URGES SALES TAX OF HALF PER CENT ON ALL ARTICLES

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania Makes Proposal to Broaden Base of U. S. Government Revenue.

TWO BILLION A YEAR ESTIMATED RETURN

He Would Plug Up the Leaks in Levies on Incomes but Leave the Rates About as They Are

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Enactment of a general sales tax was proposed today by Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, a high ranking Republican on the Finance Committee.

Reed, who is close to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and the administration, advocated a tax of one-half of one per cent on all commodities.

He said he would retain the present income tax also, but would plug up some of the "leaks" which he described as permitting capitalists to evade the income levies.

Reed said he had not discussed his plan with Mellon, but he argued to the effect that the present tax base is too narrow and new taxes are necessary.

Against Army-Navy Cuts.

Reed opposed the views of Chairman Wood of the House Appropriations Committee on a proposal to reduce further expenditures on the Army and Navy.

Reed said the cost of national defense has now been cut down to the "danger point." Wood had favored reductions. Reed is chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

Reed's views also are in opposition to those of Senate Republican leaders including Watson of Indiana, who is opposed to any tax revision next session. Reed also warned against any further increases on the Treasury by the veterans through additional cash payments on their bonus certificates.

"If the bonus keeps on," he said, "we will inevitably see the army and the navy cut below the danger point. I don't believe the veterans are going to ask for a bonus at the end of national defense."

Reed made it clear that he was against any modification of the inheritance tax on estates, describing it as a most just levy.

However, he disagreed with the Republican leaders, who propose higher income taxes.

"I believe," he asserted, "that we have reached the point of getting the best returns out of the incomes on the rates we now have. If we put the rates higher the rich simply will evade them and there is no way out of it."

To get more returns on the incomes from the rich, Reed advocated the abolition of the capital gain and loss tax. He said the rich were depriving the Government of enormous sums through the provision allowing deduction of capital losses in the computation of their incomes.

$2,000,000,000 a year.

Reed said he would apply the sales tax upon all commodities. He estimated such a tax would bring in at least half of the present expenditures of the Government of about $2,000,000,000 a year.

He said he would make this tax a permanent part of the Federal revenue system rather than merely an emergency measure to meet the prospective $1,000,000,000 deficit in the treasury for next year.

The present dilemma of the treasury," said Reed, "illustrates the unwise of having a very narrow tax basis. We have been trying to get one Federal revenue out of one-half of one percent of the population. We are doing this on the theory of taxing those best able to bear the burden."

"But as a matter of fact, we haven't actually reached that group. It isn't the rich man who is actually paying the tax, but it is the big earner. It is not the capitalist, but it is the successful engineer or doctor and worker whom we are taxing."

The capitalist has no trouble at all in minimizing his burden. The money he is earning diminishes as the in the present depression the whole bottom falls out of the income tax. The results show it is necessary for tax revision rather than for a tax increase."

U.S. COURT TAKES MILK INJUNCTION IN ADVISEMENT

Judge Davis Defers Decision on Pevely Company's Plea to Restrain Striking Producers.

HEARS ARGUMENTS ON JURISDICTION

Receives Affidavits on Both Sides—Dr. Starkloff Pledges Rigid Inspection by City.

The Pevely Dairy Co. suit to enjoin striking Sanitary Milk Producers from interfering with its milk shipments was taken under advisement yesterday by Federal Judge Davis, who last week issued a temporary restraining order.

The case was submitted on affidavits for each side and arguments on a plea to jurisdiction offered by the producers' attorney, Lon Hocker, former president of the Police Board. When Charles A. Houts of the dairy's counsel called his first witness, Judge Davis suggested that the case go on affidavits, to avoid a long-drawn-out hearing.

The dairy submitted sworn accounts of interference with milk shipments, and four to the effect that President Tiedemann of the Producers announced at the St. Jacob (Ill.) meeting Aug. 31 that two milk trucks were due to pass the hall, and called for "100 red-blooded men" to empty them.

Tiedemann's affidavits, with another signed by 25 farmers at the strike meeting, showed that he signed the sort "before, during or after the meeting."

Lester Bradley, 1304 South Spring avenue, one of the two Pevely drivers whose 3000-gallon trucks were emptied near St. Jacob, testified he asked to be allowed to drive the empty tank into St. Louis, and that some of the men who had stopped him told him to walk, while another said, "We'll go over to the meeting and see what Mr. Tiedemann says. He's still at the meeting."

"They're Tiedemann now," someone said, according to Bradley's affidavit, and a man who signed up at that meeting said, "No rough stuff. Let him take the car in."

Gus Luepke of Nashville, Tenn., signed an affidavit that he was delivering 112 cans of Pevely milk on his own truck the day after the strike vote, and urged men who stopped him near Okawville to let him return it to the farmers, but was told, "We have orders to pour it out."

Judge Explains Order.

"A great many of the men in court today," said Hocker when the case was submitted, "have the feeling that your order compels them to deliver their milk to Pevely. I should like to have that feeling corrected." Judge Davis assured the farmers that his order did not compel them to do anything of the kind.

"A great many more of them," commented Walter L. Hensley, Pevely attorney, "have said they considered the order a mere scrap of paper." Hocker smiled, saying, "I hadn't heard about that."

The temporary order, of course, remains in effect pending Judge Davis' decision.

The Health Department has "declared a moratorium on milk strikes," Health Commissioner Starkloff informed Senator Edward A. D. Lynch, the Producers' attorney. He responded to a complaint that the Pevely dairy was obtaining milk through distant condenseries from farms which were not under city inspection and did not comply with Dr. Starkloff's order last spring that the department should allow no milk from farms without milk houses to be offered for sale in St. Louis.

The producers, in urging before the strike was considered that the order be enforced impartially against all dairies, has computed that the dairies spent more than $600,000 to comply with the order.

Dr. Starkloff gave assurance that no milk would be sold here that did not come from tuberculin-tested cows and fully meet the requirements as to quality. He added that strict enforcement of the ordinance would shut off "a majority" of dairy farmers because of their failure to comply with "the letter of the ordinance in regard to sanitary requirements."

Roads and, $39,325,000.

Some other economies bring the total for the year to a little over $35,000,000.

The sinking fund provision, he said, would be approximately $162,500,000 instead of $250,000,000 and this would meet the Government's obligation.

The Chancellor explained that additional taxation required this year amounted to $195,000,000 and next year would be $400,000,000.

"The greater part of this has to be borne by direct taxation," he said.

He also said borrowing for the unemployed would be $100,000,000.

Some Compensations.

He would compensate industry,

he said, for the income tax increase.

He would do this by granting of roughly the same amount as the increased tax by means of a special increase of the existing allowance for depreciation on plant.

For the rest of this year the total yield of the increases in the income tax and surtax will be $145,000,000 and for a full year $287,500,000. There will be no more new direct taxation.

The new duty on beer will give an estimated revenue of $22,500,000 this year and $50,000,000 next year.

The yield from the increased tobacco duty is estimated at $12,500,000 for the rest of this year and $20,000,000 next year. The increased gasoline duty will yield $20,000,000 this year and $37,500,000 in a full year.

Some Salaries Will Be Cut.

All pay cuts will begin Oct. 1.

Salaries of Cabinet Ministers receiving $25,000 or more a year will be reduced by 20 per cent, of those receiving between $10,000 and $25,000 by 15 per cent, and of those receiving less than $10,000 by 10 per cent.

Salaries of ordinary members of the House of Commons will be cut by 10 per cent, the means of which will receive $1,000 a year instead of $2,000 at present.

Doctors' fees under the national health insurance plan will be cut by one shilling (25 cents) for each insured person, and steps will be taken to revise the bonus of two to four shillings a week which has been paid in the dock yards and ordnance factories since 1924.

Axe and Tax Budget.

The Snowden proposed budget bore out his promise that it would be based on the principle of "equal sacrifice by all." The newspapers are beginning to call it the "axe and tax" budget.

Not since the war has the country awaited a parliamentary pronouncement with so much anxiety.

The Chancellor, looking better

as he entered the Parliament buildings, and the House itself was crowded to capacity as the session opened.

He was received with cheers

from the Conservative and Liberal benches and challenging cries

from the opposing Labor members

as he hobble forward to his place at the treasury box.

He began abruptly: "I rise to discharge one of the most disagreeable tasks that ever has fallen to my lot. It is undoubtedly a fact

DOHERTY OFFERS $500,000 FOR WAY OUT OF DEPRESSION

Challenges Critic of Engineers and Applied Science to Discover Corrective Measures.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 10.—Henry L. Doherty has challenged the assertion of an engineer that responsibility for the present unemployment situation rests upon applied science, and has offered $500,000 to find a remedy.

Dr. Roy V. Wright, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and editor of Railway Age, made the charge against engineers and scientists in a speech before the National Association of Power Engineers here Sunday. The head of the Cities Service Co. answered him yesterday.

Doherty, with Dr. William F. Doyle, has been one of the most successful practitioners before the board in recent years.

Dr. Doyle, formerly veterinarian to the Fire Department, has reported to have made $5,000,000 in fees from practicing before the board, and his petitions, like those of Senator Dunnigan, were not particularly successful. Doyle served part of a 20-day jail sentence for contempt of court because of his refusal to answer committee questions as to his fees being split.

Raid Halted by Writ.

The deputies arrived just as Elision, accompanied by five special officers with State policemen waiting outside, was about to remove some of the pari-mutual tickets, the electric rabbit, and its motor engine from the dog track.

Judge Brown requested State's Attorney Bohm by letter today to seek from Attorney-General Janes "instructions and directions" as to what he should do.

He asked Bohm to forward to the Attorney-General transcripts of all proceedings entered in Madison County native to the dog track.

Judge Brown closed his letter by assuring Bohm of his determination "to see these matters legally settled in court" and informed him also that "in entering any order or orders that I have entered have been prompted by a willingness that the whole matter should be settled judicially for all time."

Another Injunction.

Fees of the dog track are resorting now to injunctions to prevent power companies from furnishing electricity to the racing plant, proceeding on the theory that it would be possible to operate the mechanical rabbit without electricity, and the races could not be run without the rabbit speeding around the track.

Notice of injunction issued by Judge Bernreuter and Miller about 3 p. m. were not served before the beginning of last night's races. The judges announced they would expedite service today and Judge Brown's injunction papers were issued after theirs, although served in time to block the raid.

The injunctions were directed against the East St. Louis Light & Power Co., Union Electric Light & Power Co. of Illinois, the North American Light & Power Co. and the Alton Light & Power Co.

Four copies of Judge Brown's restraining order, supplementing an order issued 13 days ago which Judge Bernreuter and Miller are attempting to nullify, were posted about the track last night. About 500 persons watched the dog races, heralded in advance by the band playing "Hall, Hall, the Gang's All Here." Total attendance since the issuance of the original restraining order, which forbade Sheriff Fitzgerald and State's Attorney Bohm from interfering with the track, has exceeded 100,000.

Judge Brown's new order was directed against Ellison, Moody, Janes and Bohm, and Miller.

JUDGES TO PUT DOG TRACK FIGHT UP TO GOVERNOR

Bernreuter and Miller Go to Springfield and Confer With Emmerson on Closing Club.

CONSIDERED ASKING FOR STATE MILITIA

Jurist Indicates Legal Means at Disposal of Local Authorities Have About Been Exhausted.

Circuit Judges Bernreuter and Miller conferred in Springfield today with Gov. Emmerson on the dog track situation after indicating they might request him to furnish troops to assist them in their efforts to close the dog racing track of the Madison Kennel Club. The Governor did not divulge what transpired at the conference, which ended about 2:30 p. m.

Prior to leaving Edwardsville for the conference, Judge Bernreuter indicated they had about exhausted every other legal resource to close the track, although he said the Governor has the power to act in other ways besides the use of money trays.

Judge Bernreuter said he was satisfied the Governor would take a thorough interest in the dog track situation from now on.

The conference was attended by Superintendent Moody of the State police, who headed 24 of his men as they guarded C. C. Ellis, state prosecutor, when he tried to execute a search warrant at the track yesterday afternoon and was beaten by Madison County Deputy Sheriff, who arrived with notice of a temporary restraining order by Circuit Judge Jesse R. Brown of Elision.

Shortly after the arrival of the State police, who appeared in Edwardsville yesterday forenoon, Judge Brown and Superintendent Moody met inadvertently on the east steps of the courthouse. They exchanged heated remarks. Judge Brown told Moody to "take your police out of Madison County" and "tell the Governor to mind his own business."

Then in 1922, he related, he let Guder use his name in organizing the firm of Mann & Mann, Inc., for the purpose of buying and selling bank stocks.

"As I understand it," he said, "Mann & Mann were simply the selling agents for Guder, Mann & Co."

Mann denied any knowledge of connection with Guder. He said he severed all connections with him in 1925.

How Companies Operated.

In his opening address, Wilson gave his version of how the three defendants allegedly manipulated the 14 companies they eventually formed.

He sketched a series of intercompany sales to show it was the

"custom" just before a report had to be drafted on any one company's earnings, to have it sell shares of other companies to affiliated firms with a "fictitious profit."

$250 TAKEN IN FOURTH HOLDUP OF LOAN OFFICE

Robber Forces Manager to Give Him Money in Safe and Cash Drawer.

A branch office of the Royal Loan Co. at 1508 Hodiamont avenue, was held up today for the fourth time in six months by an armed robber who fled with $250.

The robber entered the office with drawn revolver shortly after the opening hour, and roughly commanded two women and three men employees to enter a private office. He then forced Emmett Fitzgibbon, 5619 Bartner avenue, the manager, to give him the money from the safe and a cash drawer.

"I'm not fooling. I'll shoot the first man who hollers," the robber said as he backed out of the office. He ran to an automobile in which a companion waited, and escaped.

On June 1 Paul Daemmer, 20 years old, of Webster Groves, was shot in the leg and captured by Deputy Constable Cochran, who entered the office as Daemmer was starting out with $500 he had taken from Fitzgibbon. The robber, who is now in the penitentiary, admitted that he held up the place for $700 last March 26.

The third holdup took place a month ago, when two men fled with $400 after threatening Fitzgibbon with revolvers.

FATHER OF MODERN
TRADE UNIONISM, DIES

Lujo Brentano Combated Theories of Marx and Favored Free Trade.

By the Associated Press.
MUNICH, Germany, Sept. 10.—Ludwig Joseph (Lujo) Brentano, German economist, died here yesterday. He was 86 years old.

A stout champion of free trade, in an age when tariff walls were rising in every country in Europe and beyond, Lujo Brentano stood out as a firm believer in trade unionism and the eight-hour working day.

In the knowledge of the intricacies of political economy and social science, Brentano was pre-eminent. Aggressive by nature, albeit a theorist, he fought vigorously when Bismarck, the "Iron Chancellor," pursued his policy of imperialistic capitalism. He disputed with the Manchester School, the German agrarians and the heavy industrialists with zest equal to that with which he combated Karl Marx and Ferdinand Lassalle, the fathers of socialism. He fought consistently for social ideals which, considered radical at their inception, had become commonplace in his own lifetime, many of them being brought to fruition, however, by the irresistible force of circumstances rather than by the triumph of reason.

Advocated Trade Unions.

National economy and social science claimed Lujo Brentano in early youth, and he studied these subjects in Dublin, Munster, Munich, Heidelberg, Wuerzburg and Goettingen. At 23 he was a member of the Statistical Seminary in Berlin, and the next year went to England, where his study of trade unionism resulted in his principal work, "The Workers' Guilds of the Present Time."

This book was assailed by prominent economists of the time, but, although written in 1872, is still considered as authoritative on modern associations of workers and is also appreciated for the impetus it gave to the study of guilds of the Middle Ages and to the examination of the great stores of neglected information bearing on the condition of the people in former days.

With a reputation for economic lore well established, he became at 23 professor of national economy at Breslau, and afterward he served for six years in the same capacity at Berlin. The following year he had a brief residence in Vienna, after which he took the chair of German political economy at Leipzig. Two years later he accepted a call to Munich, where he taught until his retirement during the World War. After that he resided at Prien on Lake Constance, remaining chief collaborator of the periodical "Munich Economic Studies." At 85, however, he completed a four-volume work on the history of British economy since the beginning of the Christian era.

On his eighty-fifth birthday Lujo Brentano received the Eagle Shield of the Reich, the highest honor of the German Republic, together with a personal dedication by President von Hindenburg.

Many of Family Prominent.

Brentano was born at Aschaffenburg, Bavaria, Dec. 18, 1844, although his family came originally from Trento, in Northern Italy. He married Valekska Erbreich of Breslau in 1874 and had one daughter. Lujo's uncle, Clemens, was a poet of note, and Clemens' sister, Bettina, conducted a voluminous and historic correspondence with Goethe. Another Brentano, Lorenz, one of the German '48ers who took up journalism in America, was a keen abolitionist and sided with the North during the Civil War. He was later appointed American Consul in Dresden and his son, Theodore, after the war became United States Minister in Budapest.

Chief among Lujo Brentano's efforts was his opposition to Lassalle's doctrine that the laboring population increases or decreases in direct relation to the rise or fall of wages, a rise leading to a growth of population, which, by enhancing the supply of labor, is followed by a corresponding fall of wages. That the condition of the working man will never permanently rise above the mere standard of living required for his subsistence, and the continued supply of his kind, was Lassalle's cheerless theory. Against this, and also against Karl Marx's dogmas and the Manchester school of individual labor contracts, Brentano wielded a powerful pen. He held that labor was not an article that need be subject to the laws governing marketable commodities, but could be regulated in its pecuniary value by collective contract.

Championed Rights of Workers.

This fact, which has since become self-evident, was in those days in the vanguard of discovery. Lujo Brentano might well be called the creator of the theory of modern trade unionism. In all his numerous writings—which include approximately 20 volumes—he championed the rights of the worker against state and private capitalistic exploitation—not as a revolutionary, but as a liberal humanitarian, who rejected the conception of the state as an institute for forced labor, and saw the consummation of the liberty of the subject, not in the interests of the individual, but in the co-operation of organic groups.

In Germany he was the earliest propagator of the argument that high wages and short hours do not necessarily mean excessive prices for products. As for workers' insurance, he held that this should be borne by the workers themselves as part of their earnings and not by the state.

Collector Tells Real Estate Men He Has No Authority to Grant Request.

A campaign for payment of delinquent real and personal property tax for 1930 without penalties was begun yesterday by the St. Louis Real Estate Exchange when a delegation of members headed by President Bernard F. Dickmann called upon City Collector Koeln to offer the suggestion.

In the discussion the committee pointed out that $8,550,285 in taxes, due and payable on Dec. 31, were now delinquent, and declared it was probable that most of it would be paid forthwith if the city waived the delinquency penalty of 1 per cent per month. The delinquent taxes include $4,815,285 in real and $2,734,000 in personal levies.

Collector Koeln, after hearing the suggestion, replied that he had no power to make such a ruling even if he were so minded. He was of the opinion the city could waive its portion of the penalties only by act of the Board of Alderman, initiated by the Comptroller. The Board of Education would have to pass a resolution waiving its portion, while the State Auditor might be able to waive the State's share, he told the delegation.

Before leaving the Collector's office member of the committee said they would present their proposal to the authorities named by Koeln.

Comptroller Nolte, to whom the proposal was explained by reporters, said that he would not initiate such legislation as was recommended, because he was not sure of its legality, and because he also opposed the proposal as unfair to persons who had paid their taxes promptly, and in many cases at financial sacrifice.

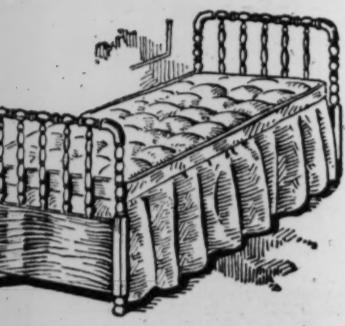

As of March 31 the tax delinquencies totaled in excess of $11,000,000 but since that time $2,700,000 has been paid into the treasury, leaving the balance concerning which the real estate men made their suggestion.

HUBEL GIVES HIS SIDE OF SCHOOL JOBS ROW

Tells Weidle He Will Continue
Trying to Help People Get Work.

William H. Hubel, Republican
City Committeeman for the Seventh Ward, admits he asked Ben Weidle, member of the Board of Education, for jobs for Seventh Ward constituents, and declares he was justified in doing so.

The situation came to light when Weidle, at the School Board meeting Tuesday, read into the minutes a letter he had received from Hubel and his reply to it. Hubel, in his letter to Weidle, told Weidle
he had given him the political and financial support of his ward when Weidle was re-elected to the board in 1929, but that Hubel never had been provided with school jobs for his constituents. He added: "If you expect my future support, please see that my request is granted."

Weidle, in reply, declared he would not make the schools a "spoils-of-war department" by distributing jobs. He said he had not sought election or re-election to the board, but had been urged as a candidate by friends. He added that he knew of no financial support from the Seventh Ward in his campaign.

Hubel, in his rejoinder, today, asserts that Weidle asked him in person and by letter for aid in election. He declares that Weidle filed his candidacy personally and "went knowingly as a candidate before the people." It had not been for the support of about 25 ward committeemen, he goes on, Weidle would not have been elected. He points out that in any campaign
the ward organization has a variety of expenses, such as postage and stationery, but says Weidle did not contribute a cent toward meeting
these expenses.

Defending the practice of soliciting jobs, Hubel says this is one of the few things a committeeman can do for his people.

He inquires, "In what respect does giving employment to one I suggest an chauffeur constitute use of any spoils system?"

Hubel concludes with an announcement that he will continue trying to help deserving persons get work, and tells Weidle, "Since that happens to be a crime under your code, I shall look elsewhere for the needed assistance for the unemployed."

Hubel is City Commissioner of Weights and Measures.

FIVE DEAD IN POWDER FIRE AT BENTON, ILL.

Cause of Blaze in Mine Cartridge
Plant Undetermined; Survivor Saved Spark.

By the Associated Press.

BENTON, Ill., Sept. 19.—Five men are dead and one seriously injured as a result of the fire occurring yesterday when powder used in the manufacture of cordx shells in one of the buildings of the Safety Mining Co. plant here ignited.
Four others at work in the building
escaped with minor burns.

The dead, all of Benton, are:
Herbert Smith, 19 years old; Carl Mooneyham, 20; Randall Scarborough, 20; James Dobrey, 19, and Joe Haskins. A. Otteisen, seriously injured, is not expected to live.
Smith and Mooneyham were killed instantly by the wall of fire. The other three died in the Benton Hospital several hours later.

Although company officers could not say how the powder became ignited, contending rigid safety measures were always enforced, said Fritchett, one of the survivors, said
he noticed a spark under the table where some of the men were at work. Before he could shout a warning, he said, the powder ignited and swept the building in a flash. The materials used in the shells were said not to be explosive but highly inflammable and once ignited would spread quickly. The shells are used extensively in mines for blasting coal.

SUBSIDIARY UTILITIES NOT TO BE "MILKED"

Kansas Order Aimed at Holding Companies With Fictitious Valuation.

By the Associated Press.
TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 10.—The Kansas Public Service Commission has issued an order designed to prevent holding corporations from "milking" subsidiary public utility companies by setting up fictitious valuations for rate-making purposes.

The order, issued yesterday under a new state law, specified that in determining the reasonableness of rates for electric, gas or telephone services, no consideration would be given to charges paid by utilities companies to holding or affiliated companies for services, materials or commodities. Instead, the companies made a showing as to the actual costs to the holding or affiliated companies.

In explanation of the order, commission attorneys said a "full disclosure"
would be necessary before any payments made to a holding company could be set up as an expense for rate-making purposes.

room, escaping in an automobile.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Top Flight, C. V. Whitney's unbeaten filly and generally recognized as the best of the two-year-old turf division, accounted for her sixth victory yesterday as she led six other juveniles of her sex home in the Matron Handicap at Belmont Park.

With a record that far surpasses any other two-year-old, the Whitney youngster stands out as the favorite to win the $130,000 future Sept. 14—15, in which will be her undisputed possession of the juvenile crown. She was asked to pack 127 pounds, but she ran the six furlongs down the

The 1930 champions, led by Stephen (Laddie) Sanford, opened the tournament in a most convincing manner yesterday by trouncing the Sands Point quartet, 18 to 9. With a 31 goal international team which included Winston Guest and Capt. C. T. L. Brown Wins Over Hurst.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—After his claim of foul in the tenth round was disallowed, Newsboy Brown, Los Angeles bantamweight, came back to win the decision over Eugene Huat of France, in their 12-round headline bout here last night.

Brown went down in the tenth claiming a foul. He was examined by the Montreal Athletic Commission doctor, who found no evidence of a low blow, and ordered to return to the ring. There was a long delay and a second examination before Brown finally returned to quiet the fans and complete the fight. The battle went at a fast pace throughout.

YOUTH IN AUTO SHOT,
HE SAYS NEGRO DID IT

Thinks Motorists Were Angry
Because He Overtook
Them on Road.

Richard Vinyard, 18 years old, son of Ward Vinyard of Barnhart, Mo., was taken to City Hospital early today in a serious condition from a gunshot wound in the face. He told police the wound was inflicted by one of three Negroes who attacked him as he was driving on United States Highway No. 61 near Barnhart shortly after midnight.

He was unable to give a motive for the attack other than the three might have become angry when he overtook their automobile a few minutes before he was shot. Vinyard said he had been to a dance at DeSoto, Mo., with a young woman from Herculaneum, Mo., and that he was returning from taking her home when the attack occurred.

As he neared Barnhart, in Jefferson County, about 20 miles south of St. Louis, he said, he saw a small roadster driving ahead of him and sped up to pass it. As he was behind the car, he told police, he saw two Negroes in the front seat and one sitting in a rumble seat.

A few moments later he stated, the roadster drove alongside his machine and the Negro in the rumble seat fired directly at him with a sawed-off shotgun. The car then continued toward St. Louis.

Although seriously wounded, Vinyard was able to reach home and notify his father. The discharge had entered the left side of his face, destroying the sight of his left eye and causing serious powder burns in addition to the bullet wounds.

Vinyard lives at Barnhart with his father and is employed as a weigher.

FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN PARK
Painter Had Been Unable to Find Work, Relatives Say.

The body of Ernest W. Montgomery, an unemployed painter, was found, with a bullet wound in the chest, on a bench in Tower Grove Park early today. A revolver was beside the body.

Relatives told police that Montgomery, who was 56 years old and lived at 4010A Connecticut street, had worried because of his inability to obtain work.

HURT WHEN AUTO HITS TRAIN

Lloyd Lee, former Basketball Player, in Serious Condition.

Lloyd Lee, a former Muny League basketball player, suffered skull and several lacerations last night when the automobile he was driving ran into the side of a freight train at a crossing on Highway No. 12, near O'Fallon, Ill.

Lee, employed as a clothing salesman at a downtown department store, was on his way to Trenton, Ill., to visit his parents. He is in a serious condition at a Belleville hospital.

Pneumonia Killed C. F. Wagner.

An autopsy on the body of Carl F. Wagner, 35 years old, was held Tuesday at St. John's Hospital following an operation for removal of an intestinal obstruction resulting from a stabbing, showed that death was due to lobar pneumonia. Wagner was stabbed three years ago. He lived at 2612 Burd avenue.

CECIL OF ENGLAND
URGES REVISION
OF WORLD FINANCE

Tells League International Investments Must Be Revived if Disaster Is to Be Averted.

SUSPICION IN AIR,
BUT WAR IS UNLIKELY'

He Condemns Military Displays — Says Disarmament Is First and Most Important Step.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 10.—Lord Cecil of Great Britain, in addressing the League of Nations Assembly today, urged the necessity of "reviving international investments". If the world is to be saved from impending disaster.

He read with apparent approval part of the Wiggin Bankers' Committee report and emphasized his conviction that the system of international credits must be reconstituted.

He echoed the Wiggin warning that the Governments were faced with "imperative need of action—not within a period of years, but of months, perhaps weeks."

There was in existence an atmosphere of unrest and suspicion, he said, but political conditions were not altogether bad. "There is not the slightest prospect, I believe, of war," he continued, "there never was a time when war seemed less probable."

Cecil's Inflammatory Speeches. The prevailing political customs, he said, may lead to serious international consequences. Lord Cecil added. He deplored inflammatory speeches, saying, "one inflammatory speech cannot be cured by 10 moderate speeches from the same source."

He criticised the policy of holding air maneuvers, remarking that these recently held in Great Britain, the United States, France and Italy. He said these maneuvers proved that the possession of aircraft by one country is not a defense against attack by another and that their execution is an aid to international suspicion and anxiety.

The present is not the time to make the revision of existing treaties," he said. "That would not decrease the prevailing anxiety, but only increase the disturbed political atmosphere. To promote the program of disarmament is now the best thing we can do to eliminate international distress. Nothing would be more welcome by the burdened people."

Disarmament First Step.

The first and most important thing to be done, he said, is to promote a program of disarmament.

The delegates applauded when he declared that "no government, least of all my own, will tolerate any proposal for postponing next year's disarmament conference."

A real agreement between France and Germany "in deeds, not in words alone" would remove most of the world's political unrest, he said, adding, "my Government always has been anxious to promote real friendship between these two neighbors."

Hugh L. Wilson, United States Minister to Switzerland, and six officers of the United States consulate at Geneva are in attendance at the League assembly, with three Prime Ministers and 23 Foreign Ministers of other nations. They are observing the formal deliberations and in many points of informal contact with the European delegates and others.

One of the features of the assembly is the weakness of the British delegation. It is recognized that the financial crisis in that country makes it impossible for a Cabinet member to attend, but the absence of a responsible statesman is regarded as a misfortune for the League at such a time.

Italy's memorandum on Italian armaments, prepared as part of the program for the disarmament conference next year, has reached the secretariat of the League. Tables accompanying the statement show that Italy might lay claim in time of peace to an army of about 500,000 men, whereas she actually has 300,000. The total number of aircraft in service was given as 1501 and the total war budget was placed at more than $300,000,000.

Mexican Senate Unanimously Ratifies Acceptance of Invitation.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 10.—The Senate last night unanimously ratified Mexico's acceptance of an invitation to join the League of Nations.

Governor Long, the Cotton Surplus And the Fourteenth Amendment

Holds State's Right to Control Boll Weevil Is Also the Power to Prohibit Planting What It Feeds Upon—Court Test of New Law Likely.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 10.—When Gov. Huey P. Long made his proposal for the passage of laws by the Southern States prohibiting the planting of cotton in 1932, the question of the constitutionality of such legislation was promptly raised. The fourteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution prohibiting the taking of property without due process of law was cited.

In answer the Governor said that the Louisiana Supreme Court had held that the State Department of Agriculture already had the right to prohibit the planting of cotton and to quarantine against the cotton area to prevent the boll weevil and other crop pests. He referred to State Board vs. Tanzman (140 Louisiana Reports) in which the issue was raised.

Under the act passed unanimously by the recent special session the planting of cotton seed for the raising of cotton, the gathering and the ginning of cotton in 1932 are prohibited. It applies to persons, firms, corporations and associations. Violation of the act is declared a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine of $100 to $300 or imprisonment from 10 to 60 days for each offense.

tioned in article 21 of the League covenant.

Recognition in the covenant of the existence of the doctrine, together with failure of the organizers to insist on Mexico's acceptance, was the reason the League was formed, have been the main stumbling blocks to this country's entry.

The second point was cleared up when, in sending an invitation to Mexico, the Assembly at Geneva corrected the omission of her name from the list of those first invited. In regard to the Monroe Doctrine, Mexico's acceptance, addressed to M. Tituloso, president of the Assembly, and Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the League, says:

"Mexico considers it necessary to make known in the act of her acceptance that she never had admitted the regional understanding mentioned in article 21 of the pact."

The reference is to the Monroe Doctrine, which article 21 specifies shall not be affected by the League pact.

In closing, the acceptance, signed by Foreign Secretary Genaro Estrada, says that Mexico will co-operate with the other members of the League in obtaining "the best results for the benefit of humanity."

TEXAS MEETING
INDORSES LONG'S
'NO COTTON' PLAN

7000 Farmers at Austin
Call on the State Legislature to Prohibit Planting of Crop in 1932.

GOVERNOR BY RADIO

Sterling Blames Federal Government for Plight of Agriculture, Calls Hoover
'Spineless Cactus.'

By the Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 10.—More than 7000 cotton farmers attended a mass meeting here last night and adopted a resolution favoring a law prohibiting the planting of cotton in 1932.

This is the plan favored by Gov.

Long of Louisiana, and differs from that of the Texas Commissioner of Agriculture who proposes a 50 per cent reduction in acreage.

Gov. Long, speaking by radio from Shreveport, La., was cheered and Gov. Sterling of Texas was heckled.

In urging the people of Texas to fight for the "no cotton" plan, Long predicted the price of the commodity would sink to 2 or 3 cents a pound with possibly no market unless planting were prohibited in 1932. A new reducing acreage, he contended, would be unconstitutional, unenforceable and would not help the price.

Warms Against Pacifier.

He said the large reserve supply of cotton was sufficient to care for the demand next year and asked why Southern farmers should plant a single cotton seed. He charged speculators were trying to give the farmers a "pacifier" through adoption of some other plan.

Gov. Sterling was interrupted at times in his speech by cries from the farmers: "Hurrah for Long."

"When you get too much Government in business you won't be a free people very long," the Texas Executive warned.

"We aren't free now," cried a farmer in the crowd.

Gov. Sterling attributed the condition of the farmers largely to unsympathetic policies of the Federal Government. He attacked the Republican tariff and referred to President Hoover as "that spineless cactus at the head of the Government."

He said something must be done with the distribution system which permitted hunger in a world of plenty.

What Would Houston Think?

"What would Sam Houston think if he would suddenly return to life and see the Governor of Louisiana telling the people of his beloved Texas what to do?" Sterling asked.

Louisiana, Georgia and Mississippi were represented on the platform. Eugene Talmadge, Georgia Commissioner of Agriculture, said that Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, South Carolina and other states would adopt the 1932 cotton prohibition plan if Texas adopts it.

W. B. Roberts, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Mississippi Senate and representative of Gov. Bilbo of that State, urged Texas to proceed with caution.

He spoke in behalf of moderate acreage restrictions, but pledged support of any program Texas would adopt.

"What Texas does, I will recommend that Mississippi do likewise," he said.

O. K. Allen, Louisiana Highway Commissioner, urged the farmers to take vigorous action to obtain

ANCIENT GOLD COINS FOUND IN RUINS OF OLD PANAMA

Rich Spaniards Who Were Driven Out by Pirates May Have Buried Them.

By the Associated Press.

PANAMA CITY, Sept. 10.—Did the rich Spaniards of old Panama, fleeing before Henry Morgan's pirates, bury their gold before they fled? The question has been revived by workmen's discoveries at old Panama of small stores of coins near the ragged walls of the old city.

Under the terms of a Government concession, a Mexican promoter is making a tourist resort of old Panama, a mass of ruins since 1671. Workmen clearing away debris and undergrowth found coins dated as far back as the early sixteenth century and others minted in 1670.

A dozen wells, their masonry still in almost perfect condition, were uncovered beneath the heavy tangle of bushes and vines. The bottoms of these wells are yet unexplored, having filled to within a few feet of the surface. The opinion has been expressed that before the Spanish were driven out by Morgan's buccaneers they might have hidden their valuables there.

Good Offices Will Be Used Only If Both Nations Make Request.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—State Department officials indicated to day the United States would decline to use its good offices in the Mexico-Chinese expulsion controversy unless both countries request such action.

A formal request was received from the Nanking Government for the United States to intercede in the expulsion by the Mexican states of Sonora and Sinaloa of Chinese.

The State Department, in the absence of a similar request by Mexico, has taken no action, and the indications today were that unless Mexico makes a similar request the American Government will not intercede.

RAILROADS ORDERED TO FIGURE DEPRECIATION

C. C. to Put Method of Accounting in Effect by Jan. 1, 1933.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today notified railroad and telephone company accounting departments that by Jan. 1, 1933, they must be prepared to figure annual depreciation of their properties.

This method of accounting has been followed by telephone companies in the past, but railroads have, in most instances, omitted calculation of depreciation of their property until time to replace it.

The decision is a revision of portions of findings made in December, 1926, but never put into effect. It provides that the railroads shall estimate back depreciation on their property and from this figure the service life of various units. The cost of new units then would be divided by the number of years of estimated service life and each year a portion of the cost charged off as depreciation.

All estimates are subject to check and revision by the accounting department of the commission.

The organization, with 125 members in Western Minnesota and Eastern South Dakota, asserted results of the act and Farm Board operations "have proved a distressing failure" in aiding agriculture.

TREND OF POPULATION MOVE

Federal Land Banks Report City
Dwellers Are Going to Rural Sections.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Reports of Federal land banks to the Federal Farm Loan Bureau indicate a definite movement of city dwellers toward farm residence, although definite figures are lacking.

The bureau explained the trend is quite the reverse of the 1925 exodus of rural population to the urban centers, which completely overshadowed the movement from the cities.

Another factor coming to the attention of the bureau was the steady increase in farm sales shown by the Federal land banks. The bureau said sales thus far this year were more than double the total for the period of last year, which was higher than the previous year.

This method of accounting has been followed by telephone companies in the past, but railroads have, in most instances, omitted calculation of depreciation of their property until time to replace it.

The decision is a revision of portions of findings made in December, 1926, but never put into effect.

A Study of Communism in Detroit.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE EMPLOYERS of Detroit are making Communists faster than the Reds can," baldly stated Frank X. Martel, president of the Detroit Federation of Labor. And Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit said: "They (the Communists) should be handled, not by policemen's clubs or deportations, but by doing the social and sensible thing. The Communists feed on discontent. Combat them by eliminating the reasons for discontent."

These utterances were published in a series of seven articles appearing in the Detroit News, beginning Aug. 17. This illuminating survey of Communist activities in the great industrial city of Detroit is especially interesting in the light of efforts of various Hoover administration boosters to blame the Communists for phases of the depression. A perusal of the articles induces the belief that the News has adhered strictly to the policy which is set forth in a paragraph at the head of each article. This says:

Detroit has been referred to as "the fast-growing Red center in America." The Detroit News in a series of articles . . . has undertaken to show, accurately and dispassionately, just what the extent of the Communist movement is in this city: its organization and leadership; its methods and aims. Rumors and accusations have been sifted carefully to bring out the facts. The material used has come from the public records, from police, Federal and private investigators and from the Communist leaders themselves.

The article, as stated, against Communistic activities in Detroit is not particularly strong. The News says that it would appear there are not more than 1500 actual members of the Communist party in Detroit and that the Communist candidate for Mayor of Detroit last fall polled exactly 5508 votes out of a total of 311,515 votes cast. Also it shows that the only really known overt act of violence committed by a Communist in Detroit was throwing a brick which struck a policeman and that the offender is now in jail.

Communists, it was shown, returned evicted families to former homes, taking no heed of unworthy cases in certain instances. Louis J. Flint, chairman of the Citizens' Committee of Detroit, "an organization which has kept a watchful eye on Communistic activities," says, "the Reds have been responsible for a number of recent Detroit industrial strikes." It was shown, however, that Communists are not in control of a single labor union in Detroit.

Acts of sabotage in industrial plants, laid to Communists, were unproven, according to Chester M. Culver, general manager of the Employers' Association of Detroit, who said that no such acts had been reported for a year and a half. However, Chairman Flint of the Citizens' Committee said while there was no actual proof that Communists were responsible for sabotage, still he and his associates were convinced of their guilt in the commission of such acts.

A comprehensive chart is printed detailing the inter-relation of various Communist organizations in the United States and their Russian connection. The most important interest in Detroit under the Michigan criminal syndicalism law, which is urged by Communists fearing citizens of Detroit as a means of combating Red propaganda. Arrests made were on other charges in connection with Communistic disturbances. "So long as the Communists break no laws we leave them alone," said Police Commissioner Watkins of Detroit. "When they break the laws, we treat them the same as any other lawbreakers." An eviction riot resulted in 18 arrests being made for disturbing the peace. Seven of them demanded jury trials and were found guilty by the jury, while 10 of the others were acquitted by Judge Boyce in the recorder's court. Chester M. Culver, general manager of the Employers' Association, criticizes the city administration for its attitude in allowing the Communists to "spout." He charges that such an attitude "has brought the Communists flocking to Detroit" and that "they are plotting the overthrow of the Government of the United States by violence, which means by robbery and murder." Michigan has a criminal syndicalism law. They should be reached through that." Such is Mr. Culver's view.

This is not a brief for a solitary idea of Communism, any more than are the News articles yet it would seem, if Communism is the menace to the United States that the Fish Committee claims to prove. At Detroit, with its big unemployment problem, would indeed be fertile ground for Red propaganda. The News survey unequivocally asserts that it is Communistic policy to "hit the weak spots with propaganda." But if Communism has failed to endanger American Government, customs and ideals any more than the News articles really indicate, then the administration spokesmen will be impelled to try something else with which to terrify the people and divert attention from the utter lack of executive leadership at Washington. — MELVIN D. FULCHER.

THE DRAMA OF THE COMMONS.

Imagination never conceived a more moving drama than that which grim economics and practical politics have just staged in the House of Commons. The scene was endowed with the majesty of a Greek tragedy—such a tragedy, however, as no Athenian mind ever quite unravelled. And history, in its final appraisal of the occasion, will accord the central figures the highest sincerity, whatever its judgment may be of the wisdom of their statesmanship.

The central figures are Ramsay MacDonald, Arthur Henderson and Philip Snowden, though there are others enacting major roles with the dignity of the conscript fathers. MacDonald has severed the political ties of a lifetime, and, in the bitter accusation of former fellow-partisans, has proved resolute to his class and his philosophy. He has passionately denied the former charge, explaining at great length and with emotion that here was a national crisis to which party affiliation and tradition must yield. As to the latter charge, his career is a complete answer. The man who refused to compromise with his convictions, who in the wrath of war defied public sentiment and disappeared in the obliquity of moral exile, is not of the caliber that betrays a trust or deserts a cause.

Yet every asset of character which MacDonald has accumulated in his battling for the people of England and his own romantic destiny, may also be accredited to Arthur Henderson who, perhaps even more than MacDonald, has been the architect of his own fortune. And now those men who fought together through the drunks and trampling of how many campaigns and toiled together in the ministries of two Labor Governments, have come to the parting of the ways. Henderson disputes MacDonald's estimate of the gravity of the situation and specifically condemns that item of his former chief's policy which shaves the dole in the universal effort to save the national credit.

But Snowden, Labor's distinguished Chancellor of the Exchequer, stands with MacDonald, a fact which weighs importantly in favor of the soundness of the Prime Minister's decision. For Snowden, under physical disabilities that had crushed a less resolute spirit, has won recognition as an authority on economics and in his official capacity has had experience with the practical problems of national finance.

And here is Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservatives, removed from MacDonald by the immeasurable distances of heredity, caste, tradition and outlook, standing officially by the side of his ancient enemy, and participating with him in the responsibility of the hour.

The tableau possibly lacks the last touch of perfection as such by reason of the absence of Lloyd George, whom illness has robbed of an active part. But there is the picture. Montagues and Capulets, Lambeth publicans and belted earls, responding to the challenge of a problem of statecraft in something very much like the spirit evoked by the bugle call to arms.

MacDonald has asked the approval of public sentiment for the arbitrary powers which in their essence spell dictatorship. In other lands dictatorship is achieved by blood and iron. In England it is proposed and installed by the intellectual processes of reasoning and debate.

The world is witnessing a historic demonstration of the English people's political genius.

PIE VINDICATED.

A dastardly attack on one of the most venerable of American institutions has been properly repudiated. It occurred at a meeting of the Detroit Board of Education. Mrs. Laura Osborn proposed the elimination of pie from the city school cafeterias and lunchrooms on the ground that it is "ruinous" to digestion.

A lively debate followed with the professional medical membership of the board on the side of pie. Said Dr. Bert R. Shurly: "Children have been raised on pie for 100 years and the American child is a pretty healthy specimen." When the votes were counted pie had a safe majority as well it might. Pie is as American as Emerson and speaks for itself. It needs no eulogy. We merely rejoice in this most recent act of violence committed by a Communist in Detroit was throwing a brick which struck a policeman and that the offender is now in jail.

Communists, it was shown, returned evicted families to former homes, taking no heed of unworthy cases in certain instances. Louis J. Flint, chairman of the Citizens' Committee of Detroit, "an organization which has kept a watchful eye on Communistic activities," says, "the Reds have been responsible for a number of recent Detroit industrial strikes." It was shown, however, that Communists are not in control of a single labor union in Detroit.

However, Chairman Flint of the Citizens' Committee said while there was no actual proof that Communists were responsible for sabotage, still he and his associates were convinced of their guilt in the commission of such acts.

A comprehensive chart is printed detailing the inter-relation of various Communist organizations in the United States and their Russian connection. The county, years ago dubbed the "dark continent in American government" by students of political science, has too long been obscured by the more imposing problems of state and nation and the more immediate problems of the city. Traditionally voters have viewed the county unit with comparative indifference, despite the fact that a large share of their tax money is expended in county functions. An example of this lack of interest is not far to seek. Madison County across the river answers the description only too well.

TIP TO STALIN.

May we pass along a tip to Stalin, dictator of Russia, who, as revealed yesterday in the Post-Dispatch Daily Magazine, sometimes is intrusted with the care of his child? Do not blow smoke in the baby's face. Do not put a pipe in the baby's mouth. The baby hates it and it makes Mrs. Stalin furious. Read up on Holt, Blanton and Watson. There is a vast difference between the five-year plan and the five-month child, as Mrs. Stalin probably has already remarked in rather acid tones, adding, "You can dictate to Russia but keep out of the kitchen and leave the baby's care to me."

CHECKING OVER THE COUNTY.

The county, years ago dubbed the "dark continent in American government" by students of political science, has too long been obscured by the more imposing problems of state and nation and the more immediate problems of the city. Traditionally voters have viewed the county unit with comparative indifference, despite the fact that a large share of their tax money is expended in county functions. An example of this lack of interest is not far to seek. Madison County across the river answers the description only too well.

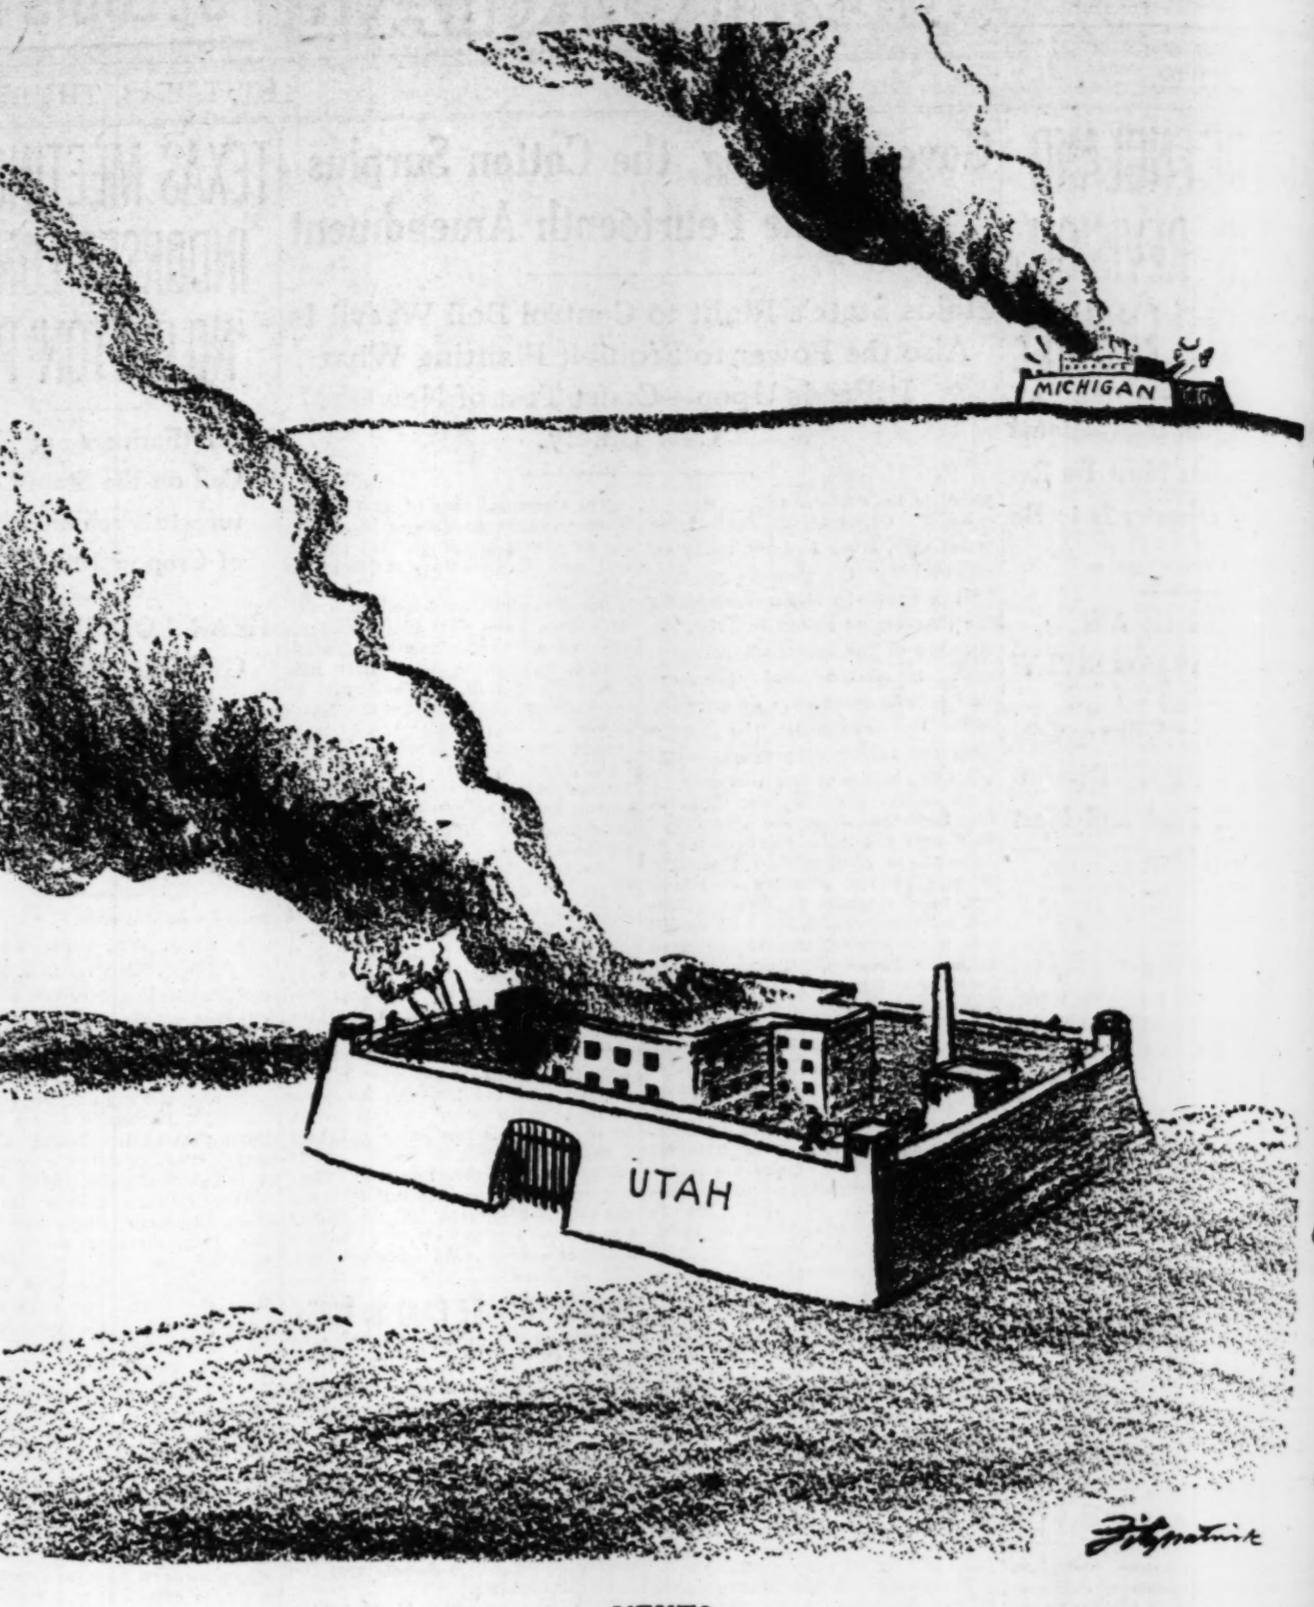

The American people cannot always continue to blink the causes of these outbreaks. All societies progress to a point where it is necessary to revise the criminal laws. This is because criminal laws accumulate until they become in themselves a menace to society. The Emperor Justinian set a historic example to all people when he publicly burned the laws of the Roman Empire and replaced them with the celebrated Justinian Code. The English people have in their turn solved this problem in the same way. Where we have prison riots all over the country, and are building more prisons to stuff with rioting men, the English are abandoning prisons and have ceased to build new ones.

The prohibition law, the Harrison anti-narcotic law, the Mann act, and the Dyer automobile law, are excellent examples of how even Congress can be persuaded to goad human nature to the point where men would rather die than endure it. One of the missions of the Wickersham Commission has been to make us realize the folly of trying to achieve social perfection by putting more and more law upon the people. We need to go back, as the Romans and the British found it necessary to go back, to the fundamentals of justice. Painting the fly has its perils.

A WARD-HEELER STEPS OUT OF BOUNDS.

That was an interesting exchange of letters between Ben Weidle, member of the Board of Education, and William H. Hubelle, Republican city committeeman for the Seventh Ward, because it is not often the public is privileged to look under the hood of practical politics and examine its mechanism. In this case, a particularly flagrant one, a Republican heelers attempted to muscle into the Board of Education on behalf of his job-seeking constituents. Mr. Weidle was reminded that the Seventh Ward had supported him, both financially and at the ballot box, and, unless he came across with some jobs for the heelers' friends, he need not expect support in the future.

Nothing need be added to Mr. Weidle's retort to

World Consequences of Falling Prices

British financial committee says main source of world's social trouble lies in falling prices; German's plight attributed to this fact, report urges maintenance of wage scales, and effort by banks to restore 1928 commodity levels; hoarding of gold causes unrest, and this can be averted by war debt and tariff adjustments.

H. N. Brailsford, British Economist, in the New Republic.

ON the day the German banks closed their doors, there came from His Majesty's Stationery Office in London one of the most interesting official publications that have seen the light in recent years. The report of the Macmillan Committee on Finance and Industry is as topical as it is readable. There is much in this report which has interest only for the English reader, but the chapters which deal with the world-wide depression are everyone's concern.

No one expected a radical document of this kind. The committee was appointed two years ago by Mr. Snowden, who is himself the safest and most orthodox of financiers.

It had as its chairman Lord Macmillan, an able Conservative Scottish lawyer. It was packed with important bankers; no less than four of them, including a director of the Bank of England. Other members represented business in one form or another.

Only one name, that of Mr. Keynes, suggested radical thinking about money, and it was balanced by that of Prof. Gregory, the ablest academic exponent of the opposite view.

have been sharply divided in their interpretation of the causes of this world-wide fall in prices. The debates within the committee resulted in a surprisingly clear formulation of these causes. Many events and tendencies in the post-war world which one cannot deny had upset its economic stability and changed the conditions under which the international gold standard had to work. These new conditions set a difficult problem for the central bankers, which they did not succeed in solving. Their failure led to the appreciation of gold and the consequent fall of commodity prices.

The report enumerates eight of these new conditions. The two on which it lays chief stress are war debts and the growth of tariffs. After these come the rapidity of technical changes and the Wall Street speculative fever. Tariffs, of course, made it difficult for debtors to pay except in gold; while war debts resulted in the abnormal flow of this gold to New York and Paris. That still goes on.

The assumptions in this argument stand in need of some expansion. The first of them is that it is the task of the central banks to keep gold as the world's measure of value, stable in terms of commodities.

The Old World banker was a man of routine, with a local and limited horizon, and even today his successor is apt to scoff at the theorists and dispute this international duty. The consequences are the sudden chaos that has overtaken us all.

The task is not easy. Like a student of weather and atmospheric movements, the modern banker must take the whole planet as his field, watching every congestion and dispersal of gold. For if, at any point in space, it accumulates unused, then to that extent the world's available supply of monetary gold is diminished. It is buried and hoarded; it might as well not exist, for it sustains no superstructure of credit.

Prices must fall the world over, with all the consequences of shaken confidence, lower output, unemployment and unrest.

That this, in fact, is what happened, the report demonstrates by a close analysis of events and statistics. The main stress is laid on the failure to lend. America was lending extensively to Europe before the boom began. The boom reversed the process. The action taken in New York to stop it resulted in a violent contraction of credit. Simultaneously, the European banks were driven to the same course to stop the drain of gold; for Paris, too, was hoarding.

France, as we all know, is not unwilling to lend, but only on political terms, designed to impose her dictation over Europe.

The moral is clear, but where is the will to apply it? Assuredly we must deal with the non-monetary factors, above all reparations. We dare not forget armaments.

It is an odd fact that while the village of gold has grown into a city of 1,223,048 inhabitants, with an area nearly as large as Jaccans, with its original size. Apparently, however, this loss is the one blemish on an otherwise consistent record of achievement and is purely nominal.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.

THEY tried hard to make a "mystery man" of that affable and philosophical gentleman who sees from time to time around the executive offices of the White House. "They" is that group so often referred to as "political Washington." Ed Jim Burke—James Francis Burke is the name—steadily has withstood all attempts to surround him with an air of political mystery.

He has let it be known from the start that he is no Col. House or Frank Stearns, those famed "men of mystery" of the Wilsons and Coolidge administrations. Furthermore, he resents any such implication.

Anyone who wants to know his status around the White House has only to ask him. He will quickly and emphatically answer that he is a personal friend and close adviser of President Hoover. And that is all.

BURKE has no title and no official connection with the Government. He is a lawyer, who for 40 years or more has been interested in politics. Ten of these years were spent as a member of the House, but he quit because he was tired of holding public office.

Outside of occasional games of golf, poker is about his only form of recreation. He dabbles in politics because he loves it. He gets a tremendous kick out of conferring with politicians, maintaining intimate contact with the President and discharging this and that task.

The nearest thing to an official title he has is general counsel of the Republican National Committee. He has been that for several years. He divides his time between Washington and Pittsburgh, and does not attempt to keep regular hours at either place.

FINANCIALLY independent, his friends say he hopes for no reward, that he told Mr. Hoover at the outset there was no post at home or abroad that he sought or would accept.

Ten years in the House from 1915 to 1925, during which time he rose to the place of Republican whip under Speaker Elbridge G. Cannon, was enough. He still remembers those days and is fond of comparing Congress then as he sees it today.

"We might not have done as much work as legislators of today," he says, "but the country conceded us a respect that it does not give Congress now."

WEDDING

which took place Friday in Jamestown, R. I., of much interest to St. Louis society was that of Miss Marjorie Morris Howe, daughter of Commander William Bingham Howe, United States Navy, and Mrs. Howe, to Ensign Henry Robert Wygant Jr., United States Navy, stationed on the U. S. S. Memphis. Ensign Wygant is the son of Col. Henry S. Wygant, United States Army, and Mrs. Wygant, formerly of St. Louis. The marriage took place at the Admiral Logan cottage, before a improvised altar of white lilies, palms and similar built in front of the large windows in the living room. Bells on the Memphis, at anchor nearby rang at 4:30 o'clock as a signal for the wedding music, played by the band of St. Mary's Church, Newport. The bridal party descended the broad staircase headed by the ushers, Midshipman Wygant, brother of the bridegroom and Cadet William Bingham Howe Jr., of the Northwestern Military and Naval Academy, brother of the bride. Miss Christians Wygant and Miss Sophie Elizabeth Wygant, sisters of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Miss Christiana, gowned in blue lace with an Empress Eugenie hat of darker blue velvet, and Miss Sophie Elizabeth in pink lace with a similar hat of deeper pink. They carried arm bouquets of pink lilies and blue delphinium. Mrs. C. R. Watts, wife of Lieut. Watts, United States Navy, and daughter of Commander Bruce R. Ware, United States Navy, was matron of honor for her cousin. She wore ecru lace with a hat of darker shade and carried yellow lilies and delphinium.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in eggshell chiffon velvet designed after the Empire period, and wore a full veil caught with orange blossoms. Her flowers were carnations and lilies of the valley. Harry Dodge, a classmate of the bridegroom, was best man, and Chaplain Turner of the Memphis read the service. A reception followed on the veranda opening from the living room and overlooking the bay.

Ensign and Mrs. Wygant have gone to the Adirondack Mountains for their honeymoon and will make their home in Pensacola, Fla., where Ensign Wygant will be attached to the aviation station.

The bride attended the Bennett School, Millbrook, N. Y., and the Friends Central School at Overbrook, Philadelphia. She was graduated a year ago from Rogers Hall, Newport.

Ensign Wygant was graduated the same year from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. His parents were married at the old Delany mansion, 2900 Lafayette avenue, St. Louis, and have visited here frequently in recent years. His sisters made their debuts here. His mother was Miss Marie Morton Tracy, a sister of Mack Tracy of St. Louis, and a cousin of Mrs. John O'Fallon Delany, 5105 Lindell boulevard. Ensign Wygant's sister is Mrs. Eugene P. Curran of the Castlereagh apartments.

Guests at the wedding included Admiral and Mrs. Willard, Admiral and Mrs. Kemp, Capt. and Mrs. B. B. Wygant and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barrett of St. Augustine, Fla., formerly of St. Louis.

Chancellor and Mrs. George R. Throop, 6510 Ellwood avenue, with their son, George Jr., and their daughter, Esther, have returned home after spending the summer at Westport, near Lake Rideau, in Canada. Their elder daughter, Miss Alice Throop, has returned from Camp Greystone in North Carolina. She will resume her studies at Washington University instead of making her debut, as was planned.

Miss Elise White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. White, 325 Westgate avenue, has as her guest, Miss Jean Wadley of Newmarket, N. J., a former classmate at the Finch School in New York. The visitor is being entertained informally, and will remain until after Sunday. Miss White will be a debutante.

Mr. and Mrs. August Lorber of New Orleans and their son are expected in St. Louis soon to visit Mr. and Mrs. William B. Ittner Jr., 665 Polo drive. They are now the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Orr at their home in Bronxville, N. Y., after a motor trip through the Adirondack Mountains, Canada and New England. Their son will enter college after their return to New Orleans. Mrs. Orr was Miss Gladys Ittner and Mrs. Lorber was Miss Helen Ittner before marriage. They are the daughters of William B. Ittner, 5553 Bartimer avenue.

Mr. Ralph D. Griffin, 39 Kingsbury place, and her daughter, Miss Judith Hadey Griffin, have returned from Ludington, Mich., where they spent the summer. They stopped in Chicago for a few days on their way home. Mr. Griffin is spending a week or two at their apple orchards in the West. Miss Griffin will depart this week for Northampton, Mass., to enter the sophomore class at Smith College.

TRUCK LOADED WITH STOLEN CATTLE SEIZED BY POLICE

Owner, Notified of Theft, Passes Machine on Way to St. Louis and Recovers Property.

A truck loaded with stolen cattle, that had come about 125 miles from Cherryville, Mo., to St. Louis, was captured by police at 4:45 o'clock this morning as it arrived at Kingshighway and Manchester avenue.

Police had been notified that the truck was on the way to the city by W. E. Halbert of Cherryville, owner of the cattle, who came here ahead of the truck. He said that a cow and two heifers, valued at $180, had been taken from a public range at 11 o'clock last night and that he had been notified of the theft by a friend who saw the cattle being loaded.

Halbert said that he set out after the truck and passed it on Highway No. 66, some distance from Cherryville.

Two men and a woman were in the truck. One man, who gave his name as Mat Sellers of Cherryville, was held for officers of Crawford County, where Cherryville is located. He said he thought he was loading his own cattle. The driver of the truck, Rainey Drenton, and his wife, both of Cherryville, explained that they thought it was a legitimate haul. Their explanation was accepted by Halbert, who engaged them to take the cattle back to the pasture.

PROPOSES INSURANCE TAX FOR UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

New York Assemblyman Would Levy 50 Per Cent on Undivided Profits.

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 10.—A tax of 50 per cent on the undivided profits of all life, casualty, liability and fire insurance companies organized under New York law or doing business within the State, the proceeds to be used for unemployment relief, was proposed in a bill introduced in the Legislature today by Assemblyman Louis A. Cuviller (Dem.) of New York City.

Such a tax, Cuviller said, would yield between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000 a year. The insurance companies paid about $6,000,000 to the States in taxes last year, he said.

Cuviller said statistics of the State Insurance Department showed the premiums collected last year by the insurance companies were $365,000,000 in excess of liabilities and that the taxes paid thereon were nothing but "a drop in the bucket."

STOCK LIST CONTINUES TO DISPLAY HEAVINESS

Omission of Rock Island Railroad Dividend and Decline in German Bonds Are Adverse Developments—Flurries of Short Covering Bolster Prices for Time.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The stock market was again bolstered at times by flurries of short covering, but failed to cast off its recent heaviness.

Trading slackened considerably, but several rails and some of the industrials again recorded new lows. Several of the pivotal shares were well supported, and closed about steady, but net losses of 1 to 2 points were numerous at the finish.

Omission of Rock Island's dividend was an unsettling development early in the day, and heavy German bonds was an adverse factor in the afternoon. Last year, the rail failed to hold, and the short market was distinctly heavy in the final dealings. Sales were around a million and a half shares.

General Electric was a soft spot, losing about 1 1/2 points and coming close to its June low. Westinghouse Electric dropped 3 to a new low for the bear market, and failed to show much recuperative power. Rock Island dropped 10 points, then recovered partially. Baltimore & Ohio, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania and Lackawanna recorded new lows. Miscellaneous issues lost a point or more, including American Telephone, American and Foreign Power, Consolidated Gas, North American, DuPont, Sears and Woolworth. Transamerica sagged a point, then recovered fractionally. U. S. Steel, American Can, and General Motors were about steady.

Foreign exchanges were generally reactionary. Along with the drop in German bonds, the German mark sagged about one-fourth of a cent to 22.90 cents, then recovered. The Canadian dollar dropped one-fourth of a cent to 93 1/4, a new low for the year. Sterling was supported at $4.85 15-16 for cables, and the Dutch florin was a little firmer.

Rock Island Dividend Omission. The omission of the Rock Island dividend—it was $1 in the previous quarter—was not surprising in view of the deficit reported for the first half of the year, but had not been generally expected.

Suspension of payments puts the road back on the list of nondividend payers for the first time since disbursements were inaugurated in the spring of 1927 on a $5 basis.

The road paid $6 in 1928 and $7 in 1929 and 1930. The rate had been cut twice previously, first to a $5 dividend in March this year and with the board ordering a $1 payment at the June meeting, but pointing out that this was not to have been construed as committing it to a $4 annual rate. The stock market was the lowest since 1923. Frisco, holding some 180,000 shares of the issue, was a sufferer by reason of the action.

U. S. Steel's unfilled orders usually fall off during August, so the report of a drop of 235,359 tons for that month this year was largely in keeping with the normal trend. In view of the fact that the corporation's plants were running at only about one-third of capacity, however, the decline was received more cheerfully in Wall street.

Charles E. Snowden's budget, as revealed after the close of the London market, was largely in keeping with expectations. The budget was pointed out in Wall street that the increased taxes on business may tend to hurt our export business to England, but this was regarded as a minor factor. A 10 per cent cut in the dole payments was proposed. It was hoped that increase in income taxes from 20 to 25 per cent will not be unduly burdensome to British industry. In view of the compensating liberalizing of regulations on depreciation charges.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

By the Associated Press.

LONDON. Sept. 10.—Stock market dull. gilt edge securities and industrials declined on fears of an increase in the income tax. German issues were flat under weak mark exchange. The close was undecided pending full budget details.

Paris, Sept. 10.—The Bourse opened brighter but was soon depressed under selling. Only French rents and railways held their strength. Towards the end Royal Dutch improved, but the general close was heavy.

Berlin, Sept. 10.—The upward movement on the Bourse was halted and leading issues dropped two to four points. Business was quiet. Variable quotations were again permitted for the first time today.

168th Dividend
The regular quarterly dividend of two dollars and twenty-five cents ($2.25) per share was paid on October 15, 1931, to stockholders of record at the close of business on September 19, 1931.

STRAWN SEES SOME SIGNS OF IMPROVEMENT

But Nobody Can Tell Just What Will Develop From the Situation.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Encouraging signs are appearing on the business horizon, Silas Straw, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, said in a radio address last night. He said that "more faith and fewer noshtrums" was the need of the day.

"Let us quit talking about our troubles and regard the present as an opportunity to demonstrate our capacity for accomplishment," he told his radio listeners. "The whole world looks to America for leadership. Let us justify their expectations."

"I cannot predict when we shall evolve out of our present economic condition, but when we look backward and see that in the past we have always come out of depressions and gone on to greater prosperity. I am confident that we shall repeat our past experience. When that recovery will come, no one will have the hardihood, definately, to forecast. Certain it is that it can only be brought about by co-operating individual effort and not by governmental action."

"Meanwhile, let us be courageous and optimistic. Let us have an abiding confidence in the fundamental soundness of American institutions, in the enduring principles of our Government. Let us have faith in our financial institutions and in the securities of our industries and utilities and let us be patient and persistent."

EXPLAINS TOTAL SOLAR ECLIPSE TO BE SEEN IN NEW ENGLAND

Dr. Slocum Tells American Astronomical Society of Phenomenon Next Aug. 31.

DELWARE, O., Sept. 10.—The total solar eclipse visible in New England and Eastern Canada on the afternoon of Aug. 31, 1932, will be comparatively brief, Dr. Frederick Slocum of Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., told the American Astronomical Society at Perkins Observatory, Ohio Wesleyan University, yesterday.

He said the sun would be obscured 39 seconds at the point most favorable for observation. He said the eclipse of 1925 was total twice that time and the longest on record is seven minutes.

The shadow of the eclipse, Dr. Slocum said, will travel from north polar regions down over Hudson Bay, Quebec, New England and then across the Atlantic. The shadow will be 102.6 miles wide and will travel 3967 feet a second.

Conway, N. H., and other points similarly situated will be near the center of the shadow.

M. F. Jordan of the University of Maine presented a paper which he said supported the theory that the earth's crust shifts east and west. He said he based his conclusions on a study of time records of the Dominion of Canada and the United States Naval Observatory which showed a systematic displacement of the meridian as the moon moves across the sky.

Two Richmond (Va.) Banks Merge

By the Associated Press.
RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 10.—The Union Bank and Federal Trust Co. of Richmond, a $2,500,000 depository, was acquired today by the Bank of Commerce and Trusts in a combination which will bring the assets of the latter up to nearly $8,000,000. Transfer of the Union Bank's affairs was effected last night at a meeting of officers and directors of the two banks.

Memorial to Victor F. Lawson.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—A memorial to the late Victor F. Lawson, an organizer of the Associated Press and publisher of the Chicago Daily News for half a century, was unveiled yesterday, his birth anniversary, at his grave in Graceland Cemetery. The memorial is a statue entitled "The Crusader," executed by Lorado Taft.

SEEKS TO COMPEL NATURAL GAS CO. TO SUPPLY FULTON

Missouri City Appeals to State Board When Panhandle Line Refuses to Make Contract.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 10.—A test case to determine whether Missouri cities and towns have legal power to compel a natural gas pipeline company to furnish gas service, as a public utility, under the public utility regulatory laws of the State, was filed with the Missouri Public Service Commission late yesterday by the City of Fulton, against the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co.

The city charges the pipe line company has refused to enter into a contract or agreement to furnish natural gas to the city for a proposed municipally-owned gas distribution system because it is a municipal project. Instead, a franchise has been sought for a subsidiary distributing company, which Fulton has refused to grant.

Lines Deny State's Authority.

The natural gas pipe line companies, several of which are operating in Missouri, have contended they are operating in interstate commerce, and therefore are not subject to State regulation, and that these operations are such that the companies are not public utilities within the meaning of the State regulatory laws.

Fulton, in its petition, contends the operations of the company are such that they constitute intrastate commerce, and bring the company under the jurisdiction of the commission as a public utility, subject to regulation of rates, service and operating practices.

The commission was asked to order the company to furnish natural gas for the proposed Fulton system, at rates not to exceed those charged distributing companies in other cities and towns which obtain their gas supply from the pipe line company.

This is the first time the question of compelling a natural gas pipe line company to furnish service has been raised before the Missouri commission, although representatives of Fulton and Mexico, Mo., have held informal conferences with the commission on this point.

Self-Governing Heretofore.

The decision will be of importance to municipalities and industries seeking natural gas service, because heretofore the companies have determined what customers it would serve, what rates it would charge for natural gas, and in effect have regulated themselves and denied the power of the State to interfere.

Another case, instituted by the commission on its own motion against the Cities Service Gas Co., another pipe line company, involving the question of jurisdiction over sales of gas by pipe lines to industrial users, is pending on a motion for rehearing.

In that case the commission last July 31 ordered the company to file its schedule of industrial rates with the commission, and to submit to regulation as to such rates, after holding direct sales of gas by the pipe line to industrial users conducted in intrastate commerce and brought the company under regulation of the commission. The question of gas service for domestic users for municipalities was not directly involved in this case.

The Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line originates in Texas and passes through Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri into Indiana. The line passes about 22 miles northwest of Fulton, but the company has completed a spur line to the city limits in the expectation of receiving a franchise for gas service there.

Franchise Refused by Fulton.
 Instead of granting a franchise to agents of the company or its subsidiary distributing company, Fulton last March voted a bond issue of $30,000 to construct a municipal gas distribution system. The bonds have not been sold pending negotiations to obtain gas from the pipe line company for the municipal system.

Several Missouri towns are served by the pipe line company through subsidiaries or other utilities holding distribution contracts, including Booneville, Vandalia, Laddonia and Jefferson City. The Fulton petition states the company also is selling natural gas direct to industries along its lines, and had made a contract for direct gas service to an industry in Fulton.

Fulton contends in the petition filed today that the refusal of the company to furnish it with gas, because it is a municipality, is unfair and discriminatory. Should the commission hold the company is a public utility, it could be compelled to furnish service, under the regulatory laws.

The petition points out that while the pipe line company contends it is not a public utility for regulatory purposes, it declared it was a public utility in units filed in Callaway County to condemn land for right of way for the pipe line, and successfully invoked the State law authorizing public utilities to condemn land for public use, in acquiring the right of way.

In this condemnation suit the company stated it was a Delaware Corporation, authorized to construct and operate its lines anywhere in the United States for the transportation, distribution and sale of natural gas "as a public utility." It stated its purpose was a public necessity.

PROPOSES INTERSTATE TAX FOR CONTROLLING OIL OUTPUT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Former Representative U. S. Stone of Oklahoma proposed to President Hoover yesterday an interstate tax to aid in controlling oil production. Stone said that while all the principal oil producing states had conservation laws which were effective, he felt a co-ordination of them and the possible appointment of a "czar" would be necessary before production was regulated properly.

The Oklahoman, who comes from the heart of the Mid-Continent oil production area, said that in any such interstate agreement there should be some regulation of imports.

He added President Hoover had expressed himself as being very much in favor of such a pact and had called attention to the fact that such action had been advocated by Secretary Wilbur of the Interior Department at the Colorado Springs Governors' conference in 1929.

Stone said he would attend a meeting at Oklahoma City Sept. 12 of state officials and producers to discuss the subject.

1 Wash after each wearing, for perspiration acids left in silk fade colors and rot threads. With Lux it takes only a few minutes—less time than it takes to wash your face and hands.

2 Never rub dainty lingerie with cake soap. Rubbing tends to streak colors and weaken fabrics. Tests show Lux removes perspiration acids completely yet leaves colors sparkling, like new.
Anything safe in water alone is just as safe in Lux.

3 Don't use too-warm water. Lux gives instant suds in lukewarm water and will not fade colors or shrink fabrics.

4 Wash this 4-minute way:

1 tablespoon of Lux diamonds does 1 day's underthings.
Dip up and down, rinse twice, squeeze in bath towel, shake out. Then they're fresh and sweet!

Try Lux FREE. Try this wonderful care for your lingerie, at our expense. Just send us your name and address, and by return mail you will receive a full-sized package of Lux free.
Write today to Lever Brothers Company, Department XL-2, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

LUX for underthings

keeps them like new in spite of frequent washing.

Why risk offending?
Change daily

ALL DAY LONG the skin perspires—through millions of tiny pores. All day delicate underthings absorb and hold these perspiration acids and odors.

Others get that penetrating hint before you yourself can possibly be aware of it.
Don't run the risk of offending . . . of those whispered comments . . . those veiled glances . . . that eventual social isolation.

Change daily! Daintiness demands it.
Indeed, daily freshness of lingerie is actually more important than the daily bath.

And now it is so easy. A simple 4-minute habit . . . just a gentle dipping of underthings and stockings in the lukewarm Lux suds. Quick and safe and sure.

For Lux removes perspiration acids and odors completely—yet preserves the loveliness of colors and fabrics. Simply follow these hints for fastidious assurance—exquisite personal daintiness every day!

DRUG SENT BY PLANE TO AID
CHICAGO WOMAN, PENNLESS
Enough Cortin Received to Treat
Addison's Disease for Three Days

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Two small vials of cortin, extremely valuable, were guarded by physicians who were today trying to save the life of Mrs. Andrew Nelson, the poverty-stricken mother of six children.

The cortin, rushed here by airplane yesterday, was only enough to treat the woman, who is suffering from a strange malady known as Addison's disease, for three days. It was furnished by Dr. Frank A. Hartman of the University of Buffalo. No more could be spared because three of his own patients require daily treatments of it. Additional quantities must be obtained from other medical schools, Dr. Richard Torpin said.

Cortin, which is extracted from the adrenal glands of cattle, was discovered only recently. The glands of 150 cattle are required to manufacture enough for one day's treatment. It is used in the treatment of persons whose adrenal glands are destroyed.

Mrs. Nelson became ill several months ago, and at about the same time, her husband lost his position. The youngest of the children, 2 years old; the oldest is 18. Medical authorities of Chicago were giving all possible attention to Mrs. Nelson who, the, say, should show signs of improvement after about two days' administration of cortin.

FLYER BAYLES AIDS MECHANICS
WHO HELPED HIM WIN TROPHY

Taken in Plane to Springfield, Mass., From Ashtabula, O.,
Where They Were Hurt.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 10.— Lowell R. Bayles yesterday repaid a debt of loyalty to two mechanics, Harry Jones Jr. and Nelson O. Lundgren, who worked on the plane in which he won the Thompson trophy at the national air races. He brought them back to this city by air from Ashtabula, O., where they were injured in a motor cycle crash early Tuesday morning.

Bayles left for Ashtabula at 6 a.m. and returned here at 6 p.m. with the men lying on stretchers in a Ford ambulance. They were transferred from the plane into ambulances at the Springfield airport and then taken to a hospital.

The condition of the men is serious and it is possible that amputations of their left legs will be necessary.

20 ACRES RESTORED TO PARK
Police No Longer Need Pasture for Horses.

The Police Department has turned back to the Park Department about 20 acres of ground in Forest Park, where the horses of mounted police formerly were pastured, Chief Gerk announced today.

With motorized equipment supplementing mounts, the pastures are no longer needed, as the few horses still retained are now quartered in the old police garage on Clark avenue. The only police property remaining in the park is the site of the Mounted District Station and a small drill grounds at the rear of the building.

LIL DAGOVER VISITOR HERE

When Lil Dagover, German moving picture actress, arrived at Lambert-St. Louis Airport yesterday on her way to Hollywood, Mayor Miller went to the airport to meet her and pose for photographs with her.

Miss Dagover stayed in St. Louis over night and left for the West Coast by airplane today.

AFTER-SCHOOL SNACKS

that won't dull dinner time appetites

MOTHER: See your grocer for everything you need. Then follow the Wonder Twins for a whole week full of after-school and between-meals suggestions

MONDAY—First day of school! When the twins get home they'll be welcomed with the "makings" of a "Two and Two Special." Here's how they make it . . . 2 slices Wonder-Cut Bread, buttered, peanut butter, raisins . . . Spread peanut butter on both slices of Wonder-Cut Bread. Put a dozen raisins on one slice. Put two slices together.

TUESDAY—Tiny folks call these sandwiches "Yummy-Yams." The twins are too busy right now to call them anything. Directions? They're simple . . . 2 slices Wonder-Cut Bread, buttered, cream cheese, strawberry jam . . . Spread one slice of Wonder-Cut Bread with cheese and the other with jam. Put together.

WEDNESDAY—Brother had a bad day and got kept in. He'll be happier when he gets home and sees the "Tongue Ticklers" sister has ready . . . 2 slices Wonder-Cut Bread, bananas, peanut butter . . . Spread cream cheese on one slice of Wonder-Cut Bread and crushed bananas on the other. Put together. The children love these after-school treats.

YOUR grocer can save the day when children come hurrying home from school. He has everything you need for good-to-eat snacks that won't steal dinner-time appetites. Wonder-Cut Bread? Of course! It's Slo-Baked. That means quickly and easily digested. Wonder-Cut "hits the spot"—but lets appetites perk up again in time for dinner.

And note this, mother: Wonder-Cut Bread is sliced and ready to serve. Children help themselves to flavor-fresh slices. No treacherous bread-knife. No scattered crumbs for you to clean up. Just put out the good things you want them to use—different ones each day. They'll do the rest.

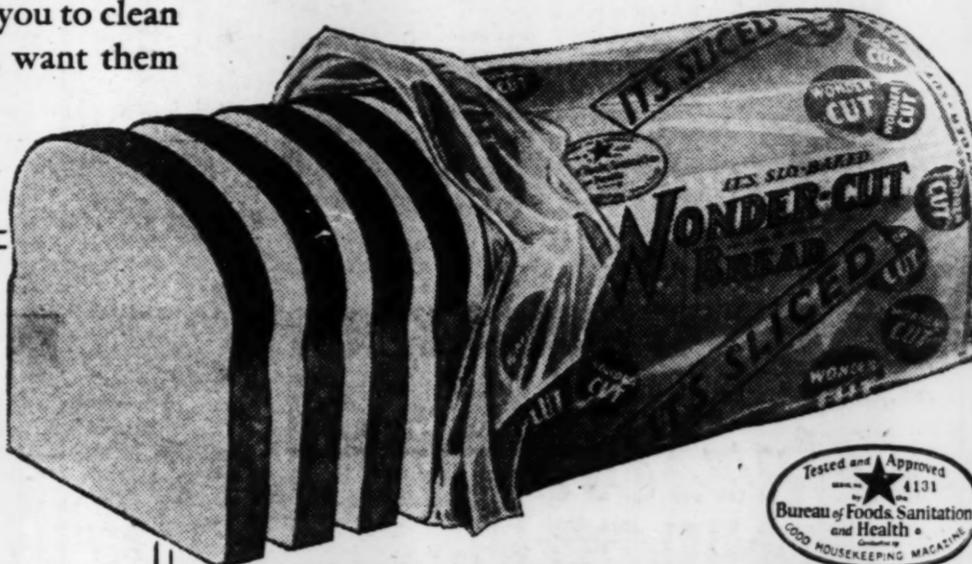

YOUR GROCER HAS EVERYTHING

you need to make the six delicious sandwiches listed underneath the pictures. He is always ready to serve you.

THURSDAY—Today's special is an "A B C" Sandwich (A for apple butter, B for Wonder-Cut Bread, C for Cream Cheese). Here's how: . . . 2 slices Wonder-Cut Bread, buttered, apple butter, pimento cheese . . . Spread apple butter on one slice of Wonder-Cut Bread and cheese on the other. Put together.

WONDER-Cut BREAD
IT'S SLO-BAKED AND SLICED

FRIDAY—The end of the school week—and Brother's off for a few innings of ball. But he didn't forget to "fuel up" with good Wonder-Cut sandwiches. He made them himself, too . . . 2 slices Wonder-Cut Bread, buttered, sardine paste, lettuce, mayonnaise . . . Spread 1 slice of Wonder-Cut Bread with sardine paste. Spread the other with mayonnaise. Place a lettuce leaf on it and top with the other slice of bread.

SATURDAY—What weather! And what a day for a picnic! Sandwich suggestions? Surely—we'll just review the whole week and add this special treat: . . . 2 slices Wonder-Cut Bread, buttered, smoked beef, grape jelly . . . Spread one slice of Wonder-Cut Bread with jelly and on the other put a slice or two of smoked beef.

 If you ask my MOTHER
By Martha Carr

EAR MRS. CARR: I am 18
years old, tired out, worked out, worn out and don't know what to do. My mother worked herself into her grave, my sister is married and has a little baby. We assumed all the responsibilities when mother died. My father has sat around without work for several years, likes to go to clubs, makes debts and is willing for me to ask anybody in the family for rent money and other things. I have begged him to try and get out of debt and have bought no clothes.
Some of the family have been very kind and have been advised to go and live with another member of the family and let father go to his mother's to live. I feel it would be imposing upon my sister. I am five feet, one inch tall and weigh just 97 pounds.

JUST EIGHTEEN.

It is a pity we have no law that will reach laziness. A man who works will sacrifice honor, family and friends to keep from being beaten. You have all been some-sider it. Make your plans at

EAR MRS. CARR: I am
a girl in my twenties and am not working. I would like to earn a little money by taking care of children whose parents wish to go out, and can't well take their children along. I could take care of small children in the afternoons.
Where would you advise me to look for such work?

MISS CAROLINE.

I think your best chance would be to watch the classified want ads
in the paper or to insert an ad yourself, telling exactly what you want. Try to be clear and choose your wording carefully.

EAR MRS. CARR: Since we had a death in our family, we have received a large number of letters of sympathy. Should they be answered?

EXINE.

By all means these kind messages should be acknowledged. This should be done as promptly as possible. If the family in mourning is prominent politically or for other reasons and receives a great many messages of sympathy both in feet and 20 years old. I have straight dark hair and wear it parted in the middle with bangs. Is that too kiddish for a married woman?

The old idea was that a girl should have blue about her and a boy pink. Perhaps that was in a day when there were larger families
and they wanted to identify them.
But there is no such form now.
Pink or a cameo is so fresh and pretty and is becoming to most babies. You should weigh about 115 pounds.

EAR MRS. CARR: I am 20 years old and have been married 18 months. My husband makes enough to support us, but there are weeks when he works

15 hours.

EAR MRS. CARR: I am 19
years old and have been going with a girl older than myself for the past year. I have never believed myself seriously in love. A few months ago I started taking another girl out, which has caused much jealousy and many arguments between the first girl and myself. Both girls are very fine and I should hate to break off with either. I have explained to the girl that there should be no cause for hard feelings, and she agrees, but when she hears of my dating the other she sulks and barely speaks.
After a while she seems to forget.
But it happens so often I am getting a little tired of trying to keep peace.

JIMMY.

All I have to say is that the first girl is using poor technique.
The fault is on both sides, it seems to me, in this modern idea that the moment a girl and boy begin to "date," they expect complete monopoly. A girl isn't satisfied to enjoy the comradeship and friendship of a nice boy. About the time he "dates" her, she expects a full declaration of his intentions toward matrimony. If he hasn't any, and is scared off
by perceiving "the way the wind blows" then he wonders if he could ever be true. Or if, at the few meetings, he grows sentimental and vows she must return it at once with petting and then, naturally, runs away as quickly as he came. She is broken-hearted with no more reason than a few tender words and a kiss or two to remember. Also she complains because she isn't popular unless she "necks." Boys are inclined to feel that it is all right to like two or more girls and make love to them all at the same time. But affections cannot be "centered" more than one place at a time. It just ain't done.

WHY—cannot both boys and girls have a lot of fun for a while without concentrating?

EAR MRS. CARR: I have been married two years. I deeply love my husband and child. But home life has become unbearable. Previous to my marriage I worked in an office for a few years, and it seems I can't actually myself to domestic life. The few household duties I perform do not satisfy me. Something's missing. My mind seems terribly rusty.
Might it be from the contact with an older set of people I have been thrown in with? They, too, bore me to death. I want to be around single folks. I detest talking about neighbors, washing, cooking, ironing, etc. Always derived great fun from office routine, new subjects,
new faces, always different ideas exchanged; it seemed to fill that now present cavity. I do not enjoy tubs; too cavity. Where could I leave the small child, should I be unable to control this desire to return to work? My husband favors the idea; he, too, admits my old enthusiasm has waned.
